CAMPAIGN SONG.

The Bonnie Stars and Stripes.

WE'RE going for our Union—we're standing by our trust, So give us back that Southern land, where sleeps our fathers' dust; It cannot be discovered—it cost us bloody wars, We never can give up the land where float the stripes and stars.
CHORUS—Hurrah, hurrah, for white men's rights, hurrah, Hurrah for the true old Flag, with all its stripes and stars.

We deem our cause most holy, we are a State-rights band;
With Seymour for our Chieftain, we'll be the Union stand;
Our bride is fair Columbia, no stain her beauty mars, O'er her we'll raise the bonnie old Flag that bears the stripes and stars.
CHORUS—Hurrah, hurrah, for the brave old Flag, hurrah, Hurrah for the brave old Flag that bears the stripes and stars.
Down with Usurpation, Bonds, Butler and his pack;
Up with the Constitution, give us the Union back;
Down with five-twenty bonds, let Grant and Beecher slide; Up with the Democratic Chief, Seymour is our pride.
CHORUS—Hurrah, hurrah, for Seymour hurrah, Hurrah for the true old Flag, with all
its stripes and stars.
Beecher, Banks and old Ben. Wade say "Let the Union slide!"
But we say down with Stevens, the negro is his good-by, General Grant, and all your mongrel
pack,
We'll beat you bad in '68, and have the Union
back.
CHORUS—Hurrah, hurrah, for Seymour, hurrah, Hurrah for that true old Flag, with all its stripes and stars.

JOSE BILLINGS' ESSAY ONTO HOGS.—Hogs generally are quarrelsome.
The extreme length of their antiquity has never been fully discovered; they existed a long time before the flood, and have existed some time since.

There is a great deal of internal revenue in a hog; there is almost much more waste in them than in an oyster.
Even their tales can be worked up into whistles.
Hogs are good, quiet boarders; they always eat what is set before 'em, and don't ask any foolish questions.
They never have any disease but measles, and they never have that but once—once seems to satisfy 'em.
There is a great many breeds amongst them.

Some are a close corporation breed, and agoo some are built more apart, like a hemlock slab. They used to have a breed in New England a few years ago, which they called the striped hog breed. This breed was in high repute with the landlords. Almost every tavern-keeper had one, which he used to show travelers, and brag on him.
Some are full in the face like a turn clock, and some are as long and lean as a cow, and some are a steel-pointed nose onto 'em.
They can all rule well. A hog which can't rule well hez been made in vain.
They are a short-lived animal, and generally die as soon as they get fat.

The hog can be lured a great many counting things, such as hissing the front gate off from its hinges, tipping over the will barrel, and finding a hole in the fence to get into a cornfield; but that ain't any length to their memory. It is awful hard work for them to find the same hole two git out at, especially if you are any ways annoyed they should.

Hogs are very contrary, and seldom drive well the way you are going. They drive most the contrary way. This has never been fully explained, but speaks volumes for the hog.

MASONIC DUTIES.—A Mason is bound to consult the happiness and to promote the interests of his brother; to avoid everything offensive to him; to endeavor to abstain from reproach, censure and unjust suspicions; to ward him the benightedness of his enemies; to advise him of his errors; to advance the reputation and welfare of his family; to protect the chastity of his house; to defend his life, his property, and what is dearer to him, knowing by the signs of the trail that his foes could not be far in advance of him, he halted on the top of a high hill, and climbing a tall tree, he reconnoitered the surrounding country. Casting his eyes over the valley beneath him, he saw at a considerable distance in advance of him the objects of his pursuit. They were going at a moderate pace, with the fair captive trudging wearily along between them. He noted the exact course they were taking, and then, descending the tree, he took up the trail. A half hour later the Indians encamped, and Murphy, leaving the trail, entered a dense thicket, there to await the coming shadows of night before commencing operations.

An Honest Hindian.—An honest Hibernian was asked by a friend in Chicago short time since if he would not like to be introduced to the Republican candidates for President and Vice President. He answered in the affirmative. Accordingly he was escorted into the presence of Gen. Grant and Mr. Colfax, when his friend proposed with the introduction: "Mr. McM., allow me to introduce you to General U. S. Grant and Mr. Colfax, candidates for President and Vice President." To the devil with yer pol-tax. May the devil blow the roof off yer jacket if I didn't pay it more nor six wakes ago; and as for yer U. S. Grant, I'll hev nothin' to do wid it, for 'twas a d-d Mexican general grant that played hell wid me in California.

DEAN SWIFT.—Dean Swift says, "It is with narrow-souled people as with narrow-necked bottles, the less they have in them the more noise they make in pouring it out." UNTIL.—An oyster leads a placid life until it gets into a stew.
MURPHY.—Murphy waited till the sleep of the savages

THE RESCUE.

A Tale of the Revolution.

It was on a beautiful morning in the month of June of the second year of the Revolutionary war that Murphy, the Indian slayer and scout, might have been seen standing on the brow of the hill that overlooked a charming valley in the State of New York. He was standing in the shadow of a large tree leaning upon his rifle, and evidently—rude hunter though he was, and used to scenes of grandeur and beauty in nature—drinking in the beauties of as lovely a scene as the eye could wish to behold. The valley—if valley it could properly be called, being bordered on the opposite side by a dense forest—was not more than a mile wide. A small stream ran through the green meadow, and on its banks nestled a little settlement of rude huts. There was a strong block-house in the center of the hamlet, and the settlers had evidently gathered in it, there being no smoke ascending from any part but its chimney. Two or three cows, grazing on the borders of the wood, were the only visible things having life. Murphy's eyes wandered over the entire scene, but rested longest on the block-house. He scrutinized it closely for a short time, when he suddenly straightened himself, and carrying his rifle to his shoulder he muttered, "It's a little out of the way, to be sure, but somehow I've got a notion that something's wrong hereabouts, just from the looks of things. Any way I'll stop in and let 'em know how things are going outside of this 'ere valley." Giving his belt a hitch as he finished speaking, he commenced descending the hill.
He soon reached the plain and struck out with a long swinging stride for the settlement. His long strides soon brought him to the block-house, the door of which immediately opened to admit him. He was kindly received, although an entire stranger.

Murphy, to all outward appearances, was but little moved by this touching story. He uttered a few words of consolation to the grief-stricken mother; advised them all to stay as close to the block-house as possible, and then saying he had a long way to travel yet, he bid them good-by and departed without revealing his name, or giving them the least evidence of the resolution he had formed while listening to the old man's tale.

As leaving the house he bent his steps to the place where the Indians entered the woods on their retreat. He soon found the trail, and immediately commenced the pursuit. Near three hours had passed since the capture had taken place, but the trail was bright, the Indians evidently fearing no pursuit from the feeble garrison, had taken no pains to hide it.

Fired by revenge and the hope of rescuing an innocent girl from the clutches of the Sons of the South, he followed the trail to the place where the Indians entered the woods on their retreat. He soon found the trail, and immediately commenced the pursuit. Near three hours had passed since the capture had taken place, but the trail was bright, the Indians evidently fearing no pursuit from the feeble garrison, had taken no
pains to hide it.

Murphy waited until the darkness was intense, and then he quietly arose and left the thicket, and he advanced without any mishap close to the Indian camp. Slowly and with the greatest caution he gained a position which afforded him a view of all their movements. The four Indians were sitting around a fire silently smoking their long-stemmed pipes. Their captive sat a little to one side, and between them and the scout.
Her feet were bound; but her hands, which had been pinioned, to allow her to eat, her scanty supper, still remained free. For half an hour the Indians continued to smoke, entirely unconscious of the glittering eyes bent upon them. Then they knocked the ashes from their pipes, and one of them rose, and stepping toward the captive took a rope, made of twisted deer-hide, and placing her hands behind her, tied them firmly together with one end of it, and then made the other end fast to a peg driven in the ground. Ordering her to lie down and go to sleep, and making no attempt to escape or he would instantly kill her, he returned to the fire, and after kicking together the smoldering embers, wrapped his blanket around him and stretched himself upon the earth. The others did the same, and they were all soon lost in slumber. Sleep did not visit the eyes of the poor captive quite so readily. She struggled with her hands for a while; but, finding it useless she resisted, and remained quiet.

Murphy waited till the sleep of the savages was deepest. Then leaving his position he stepped with a cat-like tread into the encampment. Motioning to the captive to make no noise, he leaned over her and quickly severed the bonds which held her. Assisting her to rise, he took the only two rifles the Indians had, and, followed by the released girl, retreated into the shadow as silently as he came. Reaching a safe distance he stopped, and with a whisper told the girl to remain where she was, as he had determined to return and kill the Indians while they slept, if possible. But if he should fail in the attempt she was to start for the settlement; by the darkness he thought she could escape. She assented, and drawing his keen knife and tomahawk, the daring scout returned to camp. The fire still gave a faint flickering light. Occasionally it would glare up for a moment, revealing the camp and its occupants quite distinctly.
Murphy silently waited for one of these moments, when he bent his muscular form over his slumbering foes. His arm was raised aloft; the knife blade glittered in the red fire light, then descending was swiftly buried to the hilt in the red man's heart. A second and a third quickly followed, but the fourth, suddenly awaking, sprang to his feet, knife in hand, though evidently bewildered and alarmed at beholding a white man before him.
Ere he could recover himself the scout's tomahawk was sunk in his brain. Hearing a noise behind him, Murphy turned and beheld the released girl standing but a few feet from him with a rifle in her hands. In answer to his "what are you doing here?" she replied, that fearing her brave protector might be overcome in the struggle, she had taken a rifle, and instead of fleeing, had approached nearer the camp, and as the Indian sprang up she had rushed forward to the scout's assistance. Murphy, although scarcely pleased at the courage she displayed, satisfying himself that the Indians were all dead, he rolled their bodies into the thicket out of sight. This done, he told the brave girl who he was, and how he came to be there, and assured her of his future protection till she was safe with her mother and friends in the block-house.

Her gratitude to the brave man for delivering her from such a horrible fate as awaited her was too deep and heartfelt for utterance, and she silently took his broad hand and held it between her own for a few moments. Taking one of the Indian's blankets, which had not been unrolled, the weather being warm, he spread it on the ground and told her to lie down and take the rest which her wearied body and mind so greatly needed. She did so, and, closing her eyes, soon fell asleep with the scout watching over her. When morning came she arose much refreshed, and they then started on the return to the settlement, which they reached a short time after dark the same day. Deep was the mother's and daughter's joy at meeting, and deeper the mother's thankfulness to the brave man who saved her child from an awful fate.
Murphy remained in the block-house until the next morning, when he departed with the heartfelt blessings of all.

GRAIN ELEVATOR.—The New York com- mercial correspondence of the San Francisco

Bulletin has the following: As Californians are agitating the subject of handling their grain in bulk, an item regarding the grain elevators of Chicago may be of some interest. There are sixteen of these huge structures in that city, and they have been in no small degree tributary to her commercial greatness. The rapidly with which grain is handled surprises the visitor.
For example, the two largest of all have 29 of Fairbank's 500-bushel scales, 18 of which are used as receiving scales—so that eighteen cars of grain, with four men to each car, can be unloaded, the grain elevated and weighed in less than ten minutes. The time occupied in shipping is much less than in receiving, as each scale can be loaded to its capacity of 500 bushels, weighed and discharged into a vessel in less than five minutes, or 6,000 bushels per hour through each scale. The eleven shipping scales in these two houses can ship at the rate of 60,000 bushels per hour.

In the region of the Pacific, and particularly in the State of Nevada, strangers, and sometimes old settlers, are taken in and cheated in the most surprising manner by purchasing claims or fees in ledgers of rock commonly known as quartz ledges. The sellers do not always keep truth on their side; hence there is frequent grumbling on the part of purchasers. A man who had been bitten in this way became very wroth, and recommended to the State authorities of Nevada that they should adopt the Irish flag as the coat of arms for the State. "Why should we do so?" inquired one of the officials.
"Because," replied the indignant purchaser of worthless rock, "a shamrock and a lyre (liar) are the true symbols for your coat of arms."—[Harper's Monthly.]

TOLD A FIB.—"Father, I think you told a fib in the pulpit to-day," said a little son.
"Why, what do you mean?" "You said "One more, and I have done." Then you went on and said a great many more words. The people expected you'd leave off, 'cause you promised them. But you didn't, and kept on preaching a long while after the time was up."

Two friends were dining together, one of whom remarked: "As I am going abroad, I have made my will, and have bequeathed to you my whole stock of impudence." The other replied: "You are generous, as well as kind; you have bequeathed to me by far the largest portion of your estate."

A TERN.—Aunt Betsey has said a good many things. Among the rest, that newspaper is like a wife—every man ought to have one of his own.

PROPERLY.—Marriages on horseback are of frequent occurrence at the West. They may properly be called bridal ceremonies.

SHOULD BE.—An ugly old bachelor suggests that births should be published under the head of "new music."

NOTHING.—Butler is very bald, but he did not make anything by getting Woolley.

For Congress—Third District:

JAMES A. JOHNSON, of Sierra.

HOW THE SOLDIERS WILL VOTE.

Recently quite a number of Union soldiers have been registered in this county, who have publicly declared their intentions to vote the Democratic ticket at the next election. It is a mistaken idea of our Radical friends that the soldiers will all go for Grant. On the contrary, it seems highly probable that a very large proportion of the veterans of the war are decidedly in favor of the election of Seymour and Blair. In every State in the Union hundreds and thousands of brave men who went fearlessly to the front of the battle, with the view of sustaining the Constitution and the Union in good faith, have declared their undying hostility to the disunion policy of the Radical party. They cannot now be cajoled into the trap set for them by Radical leaders. The hypocritical pretensions of that party are too glaringly manifest. Their old cry of "Unionism" will affect nothing with men who fought in the belief that the rights of the States should not be impaired or denied after the close of the war. They cannot invoke the Constitution, for that sacred instrument has been publicly repudiated and derided by the party in power. The negro plank in the Radical platform will not secure their votes. In fact, they have no virtue in the party or its principles, upon which to base a reasonable hope of obtaining the support of soldiers.

THE WAY THE MONEY GOES.

Among the hundreds of items showing the enormous expenses of the Government, under Radical rule, the following appropriations for the police department, at the Capitol building, fully illustrates the reckless extravagance of those who squander the people's money. It should be remembered that while representation is much less than it was a few years ago, the police force has been increased more than four-fold:

For one captain, $2,800; two lieutenants, at $1,800 each, $3,600; thirty privates, at $1,584 each, $47,520; twelve watchmen, at $1,000 each, $12,000; one superintendent in the crypt, $1,440; uniforms, $4,600; contingent expenses, $500; making in all $71,748; one-half to be paid out of the contingent fund of the Senate, and the other half out of the contingent fund of the House of Representatives.

BUTLER IN TROUBLE.—The way of the transgressor is hard. The following dispatch, dated Baltimore, July 28th, we find in the Sacramento Reporter of Thursday last:

Writes from the Superior Court in two cases were served on General Butler as he passed through Baltimore last evening—one for false imprisonment, by Wooley, who lays the damages at $100,000; the other by Kimberly Bros., of Baltimore, to recover $18,000 alleged to have been extracted from them by Butler when he commanded Fortress Monroe.

NO USE FOR BRAINS.—The Sacramento Bee, speaking of the Republican Convention for the nomination of a candidate for Congress in the Second District, says:

Altogether, we think the Convention was a success, and if the delegation will not wisely they can give us a ticket that will not be a drag upon Grant and Colfax, but one that will still further crowd their bellying sails.

"Bellying sails" is pretty good for men who ignore brains as a motive power.

RADICAL MORALS.—General Carl Schurz has been reading his party some lectures on political morals, with the view of raising the standard of the same in Radical ranks. This reminds us of the old fable of the crab and his son: The sire insisted that the youth should walk uprightly, and the son demanded that the old crab should first set the example.

OPPOSED TO SEYMOUR.—The British press are opposed to Seymour for the Presidency. Once upon a time they opposed George Washington for the same office. He was elected, nevertheless; so will be Seymour.

SOLD OUT.—When the Rads. of Heidelberg burg held the Democratic nominations, they sold their Grant gun at half-price to the Democratic club of that place.

SENATOR GRIMES.—The continued and serious illness of Senator Grimes, who has long occupied a prominent position in political affairs, is considered dangerous.

AN ARMY OF LABORERS.—Fifteen thousand men are employed in the construction of the Pacific Railroad.

P. B. DOCK.—Hon. James A. Johnson, M. C., will accept our thanks for valuable public documents.

ABATING.—Accounts from San Francisco represent that the small-pox in that city is abating.

Governor Seymour.

No candid mind at all familiar with the past record of Governor Seymour can fail to condemn the persistent efforts of his Radical opposers to misrepresent and malign his character. Had Seymour turned aside from his path of duty to his country for one moment to declare himself in favor of the nominee of the Chicago Convention, his praise would have been sounded far and wide from the camp of liberty-destroyers. The conscientious motives which guided him in his past career would not have been called into question. His unflinching devotion to the interests of the country would not have been reviled, his character slandered, and his name coupled with epithets by unscrupulous journals devoted to the cause of Radicalism. He has been charged with various shortcomings since his nomination, and a few senseless scribbles have shown their venality by giving currency to the slander, that during the war he favored secession and refused to answer the call of the President for troops to repel invasion. How utterly false, malicious and ungenerous such willful assertions are, may be determined by the official records of the war. In 1863, when Maryland, Pennsylvania and other States were threatened with the invasion of Lee's army and the President and his Cabinet were troubled with fears for their own safety, a number of the Governors of different States were called upon to furnish troops for immediate use. No one of them thus called upon answered more promptly than Governor Seymour. His conduct on that occasion seems to have been considered worthy of commendation by President Lincoln, as evidenced by an official dispatch, received by the Governor from the Secretary of War, in these words: "The President desires me to return his thanks, with those of the Department, for your prompt response." Could any better evidence be demanded to prove the unselfish devotion of Seymour to his country, or the base ingratitude of his slanderers? Such statements of Radicals, like their false and foolish assertions in regard to the position assumed by Seymour on the occasion of the New York riots, are in keeping with their general line of policy, and can result in no benefit to the waning fortunes of their hopeless cause.

NEW YORK SOUND TO THE CORE.—The Radical journals of New York concede the fact that the State will go Democratic by an overwhelming majority. The Sun, of recent date, draws the following conclusions:

The cause of the Republicans in this State seems to-day simply hopeless. They may accomplish something by better organization and by skillful electioneering. They are also sure to gain votes even in this city by the great prestige of the names upon their ticket, and by some of the points in their platform. But on the other hand, they will find that Liberty and Labor are hard powers to fight against, and with Horatio Seymour for President and John T. Hoffman for Governor, the Democracy will have in 1888, as they had in 1867, more than 80,000 majority in eight counties alone. These are hard figures to beat; and though we are rejoiced to see that the Republicans are going to put in their best efforts—for it would be disgusting to have such an election go by in this State without a struggle and without interest—yet our conclusion, looking calmly and impartially at the whole question, is that the Democracy must carry New York in spite of everything.

A GOOD CAMPAIGN PAPER.—The proprietors of that excellent Democratic paper, the San Francisco Examiner, propose to put their terms for the campaign at such low rates as to come within the ability of every Democrat in the land to patronize it. They will furnish their Daily from the 1st day of August until after the election (over three months) for $2, and the Weekly for $1. They also propose to furnish all Republicans, who intend to vote for Grant, their paper at the same rates, and agree to refund them their money in the event that General Grant is elected President. The abundant responsibility of the proprietors guarantees the fulfillment of this obligation.

Republicans and Democrats have thus an opportunity of getting a good paper on very cheap terms.

COMING.—The editor of the Spectator, Fitzgerald, who is Superintendent of Public Instruction, says in his last issue:

The reports sent back to the South by the immigrants who have come to California have generally been of a favorable character, and the result will be an increase of immigrants during the next season. During a recent trip to Sacramento we met a couple of Southern gentlemen who had purchased 15,000 acres of land in Fresno county for the purpose of providing homes for a colony composed of a large number of the best families of Alabama. These colonists belong to the very best families of that noble State, and will prove valuable acquisitions to who have come to California on "prospecting" tours in behalf of others, all whom expressed themselves as being favorably impressed with the country.

REGISTRY LAW.—The last Legislature made important changes in the Registry Law. The following is a summary of amendments:

County Judges are relieved from any duties under the Act. Naturalized citizens may prove their residence in the United States five years, and in this State six months by one registered citizen, and are not required to produce a copy of their certificate within two years. Assessors and their deputies have the same power to register all voters as the County Clerk. Section 7, providing for dispensing with certificate, on proving fifteen years' residence, is repealed. Voters may be enrolled in certain cases, any time on election day. Election officers to receive three dollars a day for all time necessarily employed. No fee allowed for certificates. School elections are exempted from the provisions of the Act.

YUBA RAILROAD.—This road has been completed to a point one mile from Marysville.

A RICH JOKE.—A clerical friend of ours, recently returned from a visit to Berryessa valley, gave us the particulars of the following "good one" on a young physician of that locality. As our informant is not present at this time, we will relate the circumstance from memory, and assume the responsibility for any variations that may occur in our version from the original:

In the beautiful village of Monticello, in Napa county, there resides a worthy lady whose husband and worldly goods were swept away by the ravages of the late war. By dint of industry and perseverance she has driven away from the door of her cottage, and cheerfully "accepting the situation," she continues to provide in a creditable manner for her household, consisting of herself and an interesting little daughter, the image of her devoted mother. In the same village resides a young bachelor, a disciple of Asclepius, who has been successful in establishing himself in a good practice, and who of late has been animated with a desire to enter into an engagement matrimonial. His extreme bashfulness hitherto is perhaps the principal reason why such good intentions have not been practically considered heretofore.

For some time past the young doctor has been smitten with the widow's charms, and although he lacked courage to seek an introduction, he has bravely withstood the shock on his nervous system occasioned by some sleepless nights passed in anxious solicitude for her future welfare and happiness. Unfortunately—fortunately, we mean—a circumstance recently occurred which presented an excellent opportunity for him to make the acquaintance of the charming widow, whose image was so indelibly impressed on his fevered brain (his heart having been left early in the attack on his yielding affections). The little girl was suddenly taken down with alarming symptoms of disease, and the frightened mother sent for the doctor to come in haste to see her little darling. Forgetting his portable dispensary, he hurried down to the widow's residence, and soon stood spell-bound on the carpet of her parlor, vis-a-vis with the object of his devotion.

"Doctor," said she, at the same time leading him to a chair beside the invalid's couch, "my child is very sick." Forgetting that angelic lived beside her whose graceful form now is reality stood before him, he took her delicately formed wrist in his hand and pressed his trembling digits on her throbbing pulse, gazing the while in rapturous look on the finely chiseled features of the young widow. "Doctor," said she, in a tone calculated to arouse the troubled mediator of drugs from his reverie, "how is my child?" "The child," answered the doctor; "Oh—yes. The child is better; but it requires—And it did recover; but the agitated physician, who temporarily became calm enough to attend to the wants of the little sufferer, has not yet recovered from the effects of a disease which is fearfully suggestive of suicide, unless the good woman will yield her heart to the loving protection of his ownership, and thereby prevent the mournful egress from thence over the untimely grave of her "medicine man."

SENATOR CONGRESS has appointed Mr. Harrison, an intelligent black man, clerk of the Senate Committee on Mines, of which he is Chairman.—[N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.]

This Committee on Mines has nothing to do, and therefore, the place is a secure, which costs the country some $1,800 a year. As most of such clerks are private secretaries of the chairman, we suppose this "black man" serves in that capacity to Mr. Conness, and we doubt not that he is the more capable person of the two. The association at least justifies that implication.—[National Intelligencer.]

We concur. The crazy efforts of fanatics in Congress to make the negroes their equals, are doubtless sometimes successful, as in the case in point. Conness considers his white brethren unworthy to receive the salary of the clerkship, and confers the honors and emoluments, at his disposal, on his superiors of the African persuasion. His constituents will grant him an indefinite furlough at the close of his term.

PIKE IN THE REAR.—The Sacramento Bee makes a fierce attack on J. G. McCullum, and declares he is the most unpopular man named for the Congressional nomination. The secret of this opposition undoubtedly is, that "Melancholy" supported Gorham last year, and the Bee did not. So says the Reporter.

In Connecticut a certain Justice was called to the jail to liberate a worthless debtor by receiving his oath that he was not worth twenty dollars. "Well, Johnny," said the Justice, on entering, "can you swear that you are not worth twenty dollars, and that you never will be?" "Why," answered the other, rather chagrined at the question, "I can swear that I am not worth that amount at present." "Well, well," returned the Justice, "I can swear to the rest; so go along, Johnny." And the man was sworn and discharged.

SPONTANEOUS COMBUSTION.—A terrible case of human spontaneous combustion, which resulted in death, is reported in Cleveland, Ohio. The name of the man was Bremer. We learn that he drank on a wager six large drinks of whiskey and a pint of stock ale at a sitting. With blazing face and staring eyes he reeled toward a gas jet, in order to light his pipe, when the noxious gases issuing from his mouth were instantly in a blaze, and the poor wretch was soon being consumed by an inward fire.

HOMES.—Home is the sacred residence designed by divine goodness for the happiness of woman. Over its quiet retirement she was formed to shed her peaceful influence, and in conscious freedom with which she is permitted to discharge the responsibilities which its relations impose, to resolve happiness herself, and communicate it to those with whom she is connected in love.

GIVE THANKS.—Congress has taken a recess until the third day of September. For small favors let us be thankful. For little over a month the country can breathe easy. During that period it need not labor under the apprehension that each coming day will bring to light some new infraction of the Constitution; some fresh advance against the citadel of Liberty. During the space of thirty-six days the people will be left in the full and free enjoyment of what little liberty remaining. Congress has permitted them to retain. Let them make the most of it, and enjoy it to the utmost extent, for there is no knowing how soon, after the 3d of September, what little liberty the people now possess will be taken away from them. Like criminals whose sentence has been temporarily suspended, the people should make the most of the time between this and the probable execution.—[Morning Call.]

SEYMOUR AND BLAIR.—We have passed through seven Presidential elections, have heard the answering echoes to the announcement of fifteen Presidential nominations, but have never known such an answering shout of joy as has burst from the united Democratic and Conservative masses on the announcement of the nomination of Seymour and Blair. There is no mistaking the public pulse, no misconstruing the public demonstrations of joy, and no mistaking as to the final and triumphant election of Seymour and Blair. Keep the ball rolling and all will be well at sunset on November 3d, 1888.—[Placer Herald.]

WANT "EASY PLACES."—There are thousands of idle and suffering men in San Francisco asking for work. There is room in the interior for every man of them to work at good wages. But the trouble seems to be that every man out of employment wants an "easy place." It is time for people to learn that there are no "easy places" in this work-a-day world. There are plenty of working places, however, if men want them. The way the world goes, men must work, steal or starve.—[Stockton Gazette.]

MAINE DEMOCRACY.—The largest Democratic Convention ever held in Maine, convened at Augusta on the 23d of June last. Eight hundred and seventy-four delegates were present. E. J. Pillsbury was unanimously nominated for Governor.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS!

The following letters from well-known physicians and individuals show the estimation in which this celebrated preparation is held by those who have used them:

Pittsburg, May 10, 1886.
Messrs. Hostetter & Smith, Gentlemen:—During a visit in the West last Fall, I contracted chills and fever, which brought me to my bed, and finally terminated in typhoid fever, and confined me to my room for several months, during which time I was so prostrated that I almost despaired of ever recovering health; myself entirely lost my appetite for days, not being able to eat a morsel; added to which I was much distressed with a reeling sensation in my head, and passed many sleepless nights—all from debility caused by my prostrate condition, brought about by the fever. At this stage of my condition a friend recommended me to use your celebrated Stomach Bitters; but being morally opposed to the use of stimulants in any form, I at first declined, but after yielding my prejudices, and after taking the medicine for several weeks as directed, my appetite returned, and with it I rapidly regained my former strength and vigor. My sleep from the loss of which I had suffered much, has never been better than it is now, and the reeling sensation (before alluded to) has entirely left me. My bowels, which were before constipated and irregular, are now quite natural, and in fact, I am glad to say that I feel myself a new man, and tender you this testimonial of my appreciation of your valuable preparation. In order that others suffering as I have may avail themselves of its virtues, which prejudice prevented me from enjoying for so long a period. I may add that my physician, after seeing the beneficial effect your Bitters had, recommended that I use them regularly.

Yours, very respectfully, E. BORN, 45 Market street.

Pittsburg, Sept. 4, 1886.
Messrs. Hostetter & Smith, Pittsburg, Pa.—Gents:—I think I am only doing the part of a good citizen when I testify to the great benefits received by me from the use of your Stomach Bitters during the last five years. In 1881, I had a severe bilious attack, which in connection with dyspepsia, left me in a very weak condition. I was advised to try your Bitters, and, having procured a bottle, found that they worked like a charm upon me, eight pounds having been added to my weight in the space of one week, and new life seemed to have been infused into my system—so much so, that I have been induced to use them every Summer since that time. As a tonic, I think they are invaluable. This Summer, having a similar attack (and, I believe, much reduced), although under the treatment of a No. 1 physician, was again obliged to have recourse to the old Bitters, and with the same good result, having been cured in a few days. I purchased a half dozen bottles a few weeks since, and propose to use them regularly as a tonic. Wishing you every success, I remain, Yours, gratefully, W. MILLER.

Messrs. Hostetter & Smith—Gents:—It is with the greatest pleasure that I recommend your Stomach Bitters to the public. I think it the best Bitters of the day. It is especially adapted to the South and West, where bilious derangements of the liver are prevalent. Ten years' experience in the use of compounds as caratives compels me to give your Bitters the preference that its popularity merits.

GALLATIA, Saline Co., Ill.
Messrs. Hostetter & Smith—Gentlemen:—I have used your Bitters for many years, and I have never found them to be equal to any other medicine. Parties who have tried them speak in very high praise of their excellent virtues. I have used them myself, and prescribe them with unparalleled success. Very respectfully, J. SMITH, M. D.

MATTOON, Ill., Jan. 21, 1885.
Messrs. Hostetter & Smith—Gentlemen:—I sell more of your Stomach Bitters than of any other medicine. Parties who have tried them speak in very high praise of their excellent virtues. I have used them myself, and prescribe them with unparalleled success. Very respectfully, G. T. GILNER, M. D.

Messrs. Hostetter & Smith—Gentlemen:—I have used, and often prescribed, your Stomach Bitters, and take pleasure in recommending it to all whose stomachs are debilitated. It is an excellent appetizer and tonic, and I prize it as one of the best medicines of the day.

R. G. MOORE, M. D.

FRANKLIN, Clinton Co., Ind., Dec. 2, 1885.
Messrs. Hostetter & Smith—Gents:—Some 18 months since I was troubled with weakness of the stomach, and lost my appetite, and on the recommendation of Dr. Cox, our family physician, I purchased several bottles of your Bitters, which had the desired effect of restoring me to health. But of late I have not been able to obtain the Bitters in my place. Please inform me where I can purchase them, or if you can send me some, I will be pleased to have the agency, as I can recommend them to be what they are represented.

Yours truly,
JOHN H. HUTCHINSON.

Sheriff's Sale.

BY a decree of foreclosure and order of sale made by the District Court of the State of California, held in and for the County of Yolo, on a judgment rendered therein on the 20th day of July, A. D. 1888, in favor of JOHN D. STEPHENS and against WM. DANIEL and RODIE S. DANIEL for the sum of $18,000.85 in U. S. gold coin, and the further sum of $8,190.37 in U. S. gold coin, with legal interest, said sums being principal, interest, costs fees and advances made under the terms of the Mortgage given to secure the payment of the amounts specified in said foreclosed Mortgage; together with $46.40 costs of suit, and all accruing costs in coin, I was commanded to sell at public auction to the highest bidder all those certain tracts of real estate lying and being in said County of Yolo and State of California, described as follows, to wit:

The undivided one-half of that portion of the Canada de Capay, or Berryessa Grant (now Patented), beginning at a point on Cache Creek, near the centre thereof, and being on the line between the Gordon Grant and the Canada de Capay or Berryessa Grant; running thence southerly with said line to a stake at Gordon's south-west corner, about 105 chains; and thence in a westerly direction about 315 chains to a stake in the ground placed there by A. P. Green, U. S. Surveyor, and being on the line between the tract of land known as the lands of Holdforth and the tract known as Manchester's; thence running northerly on the division line between the last-mentioned tracts to the centre of Cache Creek; thence down the centre of said creek, following the meanderings thereof, to the place of beginning (excepting therefrom the tract of land belonging to J. J. and L. D. Stephens).

Also, the whole of the following tract in said county, to wit: Beginning at a point in the centre of Cache Creek, on the line between the Manchester and Holdforth tract aforesaid; and running thence north 104 degs. east 105 chains and 34 links to the north-west corner of said Manchester tract; thence easterly to the north-east corner of said Manchester tract in the centre of Cache Creek; thence down the centre of said creek, along the centre thereof, to the place of beginning (excepting therefrom the tract of land belonging to J. J. and L. D. Stephens).

On Monday, August 17th, 1888, at the hour of 12 o'clock M. of that day, in front of the Court House door in Woodland, Yolo county, offer at public sale all the property above described, so as to satisfy the judgment and costs.

TOWN AND COUNTY MATTERS.

INCORPORATION.—From time to time the expediency of incorporating the town of Woodland has been discussed by citizens interested in its future growth and prosperity. Many good and substantial reasons have been advanced why it should be done without delay, and the idea seems to have met with no formidable opposition, but simply failed in its adoption and execution because no one who favored the project has taken the lead in the matter. We believe that no petition praying for incorporation has been circulated, and yet we know that the principal business men and heads of families would readily lend their aid in the accomplishment of the object. A prime reason for a movement of this kind is the better means it furnishes of establishing social order and police regulations, which cannot possibly be otherwise maintained. If any of our readers do not think the necessity exists for a change in this respect, they have only to visit our principal streets on Sunday evenings through the week in order to satisfy their minds upon the subject. At this season of the year scarcely a Sabbath passes that is not profaned by the oaths and filthy utterances of drunken men, reeling through the streets or collected in crowds on the sidewalks and crossings for the purpose of indulging in brutal instincts which lead them to pound, beat and bruise one another in a manner that would have disgraced the early history of the dens of infamy within the limits of Five Points. Ladies and little children in passing to and from the house of worship are often forced to go through unrequited streets and byways in order to keep clear of the range of horrid blasphemy and vulgar epithets indulged in, in tone and style becoming the classmates of Satan. We have schools and colleges which would be creditable to any community, and yet it is not reasonable to expect that they can flourish while such immoral influences as we speak of are allowed to spread abroad unchecked, like the stealthy march of a plague, in the community. What father or mother who has daughters to rear up in the paths of virtue and refinement, or sons to be imbued with principles of honor and nobility, can be a passive spectator of scenes reeking with corruption and dishonor within a stone's throw of their own homes? These evils have remained unchecked and undisturbed long enough. It is time now that action should be had in the matter. The only available remedy that we know of is incorporation. If any one can suggest a better plan for the suppression of the evils complained of, let us hear of it. There are other reasons why some plan of incorporation should be adopted, which, perhaps, we may notice in a future article. At present we desire only to call attention to the subject. The only objection we have heard to the proposed change in our municipal affairs is, that it will give rise to some additional taxation necessary to carry out the project. It can be shown that a modified form of incorporation can be adopted that will cost but a trifle to maintain. Besides, what influence must a few paltry dollars and cents have in the decision of a question involving the moral standard of our beautiful valley?

CALISAYA BARK.—It is said that Messrs. Drake & Co., (proprietors of the "Plantation Bitters") are the largest importers of Calisaya Bark in this country, and that, with the exception of an occasional sale, all they import is used in the compounding of their celebrated "Plantation Bitters," and to which they undoubtedly are indebted for their wonderful health-restoring properties. As a tonic and appetizer they are not surpassed, and we cheerfully recommend them. All first-class Druggists keep them for sale.

MISSING HIS CALLING.—A young mechanic on Main street called on a day or two ago to give an account of an accident he had witnessed. He spread himself on an elaborate history of the affair, and wound up with an unsatisfactory air, declaring that it would take a whole column to express his feelings on the subject. We advised him to write a book. That fellow would make an enterprising reporter for a first-class journal of nightmares.

REGISTER YOUR NAMES.—The time for holding the Presidential election is rapidly approaching. Every citizen not already registered should call at once upon the District Assessor or County Clerk and see that his name is placed upon the Register. The Democratic clubs throughout the county, as well as the county committee, should appeal to competent persons to see that the name of every voter is placed on record.

CAMP MEETING.—A camp meeting of the Methodist Episcopal church will be held near the Bynum Ranch, on Cache Creek, commencing Friday evening, August 28th. We learn that ample preparation will be made to accommodate all who desire to attend.

MEETING AT DAVISVILLE.—There will be a Democratic mass meeting at Davisville next Saturday evening. The Democracy of that burg have sent special invitations to the clubs of the various precincts to be in attendance. Speakers from Sacramento will be present.

DESIRES TO BE MADE HAPPY.—A good looking young gentleman called at our office on Wednesday and bashfully requested a marriage license. We referred him to our efficient County Clerk, who takes pleasure in attending to such cases.

PICTURE OF SEYMOUR.—We have been shown an excellent likeness of Horatio Seymour, drawn in India ink by H. P. Peterson, of the firm of Peterson & Bro., of this place. The picture does great credit to the artist.

SCARCITY OF LABORERS.—There appears to be a general complaint among the farmers at this time in regard to the scarcity of laborers. The harvest, which is unusually heavy, has been delayed on this account.

REPAIRED.—The bridges across Cache Creek, at Cacheville and Nelson's, have been recently put in good order under the direction of J. L. Underhill, County Surveyor.

PREPARING FOR A NEW TERM.—Prof. Martin is having the college building refitted and improved preparatory for the new term, commencing on the 24th inst.

POULTRY.—We were accosted yesterday by an irate Irishman, who desired to know "how much it would cost him to give Pat Flanagan a good bastein." Look out, Pat.

NEW BUILDING.—Mrs. Pierson & Strong are putting up a handsome brick building, adjoining Baker's Hotel, on Main street.

MELONS.—A few melons have made their appearance in market. The quality of those we have seen appears to be inferior.

WARM.—The thermometer has ranged from 80 to 104 degrees during the past week. No body hurt.

WOODLAND DEMOCRATIC CLUB MEETS TONIGHT. Business of importance will be transacted.

FRIGHTFUL RUNAWAY.—On Sunday night, as Thomas Prior and his wife, accompanied by two gentlemen, were returning from a pleasure ride in a two-horse rockaway, the parties met with an accident, by which one of them was severely injured, the others escaping miraculously with only slight bruises and the effects of a terrible fright. As they neared town and were passing the residence of J. W. Tilly, the driver, a young man in the employ of Mr. Prior, attempted to pass a team just ahead of the party, and which was also returning to town. A race ensued, and so eager was the driver of the rockaway to outstep his adversary that he endeavored to pass him on the narrow bridge this side of Mr. Tilly's residence. It was discovered too late that the space was insufficient to admit of the passage of the vehicles abreast, and the wheels on one side of the rockaway were forced over the end of the bridge. Strange to say, the carriage did not upset, but the violent jolt it sustained threw the three men to the ground with great force, the lady by some unaccountable circumstance retaining her seat. The horses kept on in their furious course, dragging the carriage across the bridge until the wheels struck the bank on the opposite side, where the rockaway righted up and the team dashed out into the road again. The passengers, however, were not so fortunate. Dashed through Main street, heading for the stable from where they had been taken, creating the wildest excitement on their route among the many spectators who witnessed the scene, but were unable to rescue the lady from a position which every moment threatened her imminent death. On arriving at the stable and attempting to make a toilet, their cries were speedily carried them beyond the entrance, and they ran square up against an adjoining house, smashing in doors and windows as effectively as might have been accomplished by a thunderbolt. The wreck was piled up by the collision in one heterogeneous mass, and a breathless crowd rushed forward to rescue the lady, whom they supposed had met with a frightful fate. Fortunately, when the crash came she was thrown forward on one of the prostrate horses, from which position she was taken up almost unharmed. The young man who, less fortunate than his companions, was injured by his fall has since been confined to his room at the residence of J. W. Tilly, who has kindly taken charge of the sufferer and attended to his wants. He is convalescing, and expects to be out in a few days.

ANOTHER LOSS FROM THE CARELESS USE OF MATCHES.—On Thursday last, John Tadlock, who resides on Harlan's ranch, near Buckeye, in this county, lost between thirty and forty tons of hay, together with his barn, by fire. Some harvesters who had been sleeping near the stack left matches scattered about, which, in their absence, became ignited by the heat of the sun. As soon as the fire was discovered a crowd collected and by almost human efforts prevented it from spreading over the field and destroying a large amount of grain in the vicinity of the stacks. The "Buckeye boys" turned a stone of their own workmanly hands. Tadlock tenders his thanks to them for their timely aid in saving the most valuable part of his crop from destruction.

NEW EXPRESS OFFICE.—The Pacific Union Express Company has established an office in this place. Fleishman & Kaufman are the agents of the company. The office is located at the store of the agents, on Main street. This company propose to forward letters and freight at reasonable charges.

SUPERVISORS.—Regular term on Monday next.

EXAMINATION IN THE ALPHABET.—Which are the most industrious letters?—The Bees. Which are the most fond of comfort?—The Ease. Which are the most extensive letters?—The Seas. Which are the most egotistical letters?—The Is.

Which are the longest letters?—The Pills. Which are the noisiest letters?—The Jays. Which are the greatest bores?—The Tease. Which are the sensible letters?—The Wise. Which are good eating?—The Peas. Which are out of fashion?—The Queues.

$1,000 Reward for its Equal!

THE NEW WEEB SEWING MACHINE!

Just completed, in SOLID STEEL MACHINERY, and combining in ONE the good of ALL!

This most enterprising Company has certainly brought out

THE BEST SEWING MACHINE EVER MADE!

And indeed is the ONLY NEW Sewing Machine, of any name, manufactured for the last eight years. Even a superficial observer can easily see that it surpasses all others, at least in the simplicity and durability of its machinery, and its remarkable EASE OF MOTION AND MANAGEMENT.

It has few pieces, and all of steel. It makes the complete "Lock Stitch," the same as the Sewing Machine, but not ravel. Every Machine is warranted to sew from Thinnest Lace, to Double Harness Leather! and of course can never be got out of order by "hard sewing." All repairs free of charge. Prices same as others.

PLEASE NOTICE.

The claims of the Florence Company for the First Premium at the great Paris Exposition of 1889, though seeming true in letter, is really false in spirit and intent, and calculated greatly to deceive the public. Although it did receive the Silver Medal—that being the highest award given—it was not awarded the FIRST PRIZE! This was awarded the Weed Sewing Machine in the order of merit. The second place was given to an European Machine, and only the third to the Florence! But the claim of the Wheeler & Wilson Company, at this Fair, is a great outrage, both as to letter and spirit; at least so much of it as pertains to their Gold Medal upon their Family Machine, which, but nothing on both sides, which shall not be mentioned at all on their "Family Machine." Not even a bronze medal, nor indeed (what is worse) even an "honorable mention." (See official report.) See also, as to the new WEED Sewing Machine, the returns of the State Fairs of Pennsylvania, Illinois, New Hampshire and New York, for 1887, at each of the new WEED Sewing Machine, and the WEED Sewing Machine was pronounced the "BEST" and received the highest premium given. And so also at other Fairs, and indeed wherever the new WEED Sewing Machine is exhibited the "strong points" of this really magnificent Machine.

S. E. HOAR, General Agent, Office 21 Kearny street, San Francisco. H. U. OGBURN & LADY, Woodland, agents for Yolo county, where this Machine will be ever ready to "speak for itself," both to those who see and those who buy. jyl4-ly

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU.

FROM THE LARGEST MANUFACTURING CHEMIST IN THE WORLD.

I am acquainted with H. T. Helmbold; he occupies the drug store opposite my residence, and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise. WM. WRIGHTMAN, (firm of Powers & Wrightman), Manufacturing chemists, Ninth and Brown streets, Philadelphia.

The proprietor has been induced to make this statement from the fact that his remedies, although advertised, are genuine preparations, and knowing that the intelligent refrain from using anything pertaining to Quackery, or the Patent Medicine order—most of which are prepared by self-styled doctors, who are too ignorant to read a physician's simple prescription, much less competent to prepare Pharmaceutical preparations. These parties resort to various means of effecting sales, such as copying parts of advertisements of popular remedies and finishing with certificates. The science of medicine stands simple, pure and majestic, having fact for its basis, induction for its pillar, truth alone for its capital.

A Word of Caution.

Health is most important; and the afflicted should not use an advertised medicine, or any remedy, unless its contents or ingredients are known to others besides the manufacturer, or until they are satisfied of the qualifications of the party so offering.
